Verse 1:

E                    B
Light of the world,
                         F#m7                    F#m
You stepped down into darkness,
E                    B                    A
Opened my eyes, let me see
E                    B                                    F#m
Beauty that made this heart adore You,
E                    B                    A
Hope of a life spent with You.

Chorus 1:

                  B                    E
And here I am to worship;
                                  B
Here I am to bow down;
                                  C#m                                    A
Here I am to say that You're my God.
                                  E                                    B
You're altogether lovely, altogether worthy,
                                  C#m                                    A
Altogether wonderful to me.

Ending 1:

Last - full band on first two lines, guitar on third line, singers only on last line

                  B                    E                    A
I'll never know how much it cost
                  B                    E                    A
To see my sin upon that cross.
                  B                    E                    A
I'll never know how much it cost
                  B                    E                    A                    (B)
To see my sin upon that cross.

Verse 2:

E                    B
King of all days,
          F#m7            F#m
O so highly exalted,
E                    B                    A
Glorious in heaven above.
E                    B                                    F#m
Humbly You came to the earth You created,
E                    B                                    A
All for love's sake became poor.
